Why do we need a Code of Conduct?

A Message from our President

Premiere is approaching an exciting time as we are adding to our American-based business through global expansion and international operations; yet, it would be shortsighted to expect that this type of growth will be free from challenges.

Premiere remains committed to the heart of our business – our Team Members and their families – and is equipped to face any changes with preparedness and guidance. Premiere is duly dedicated to being a good corporate citizen by working ethically and respectfully with our partners in the communities in which we conduct business.

For our Team Members and our partners, there may be uncertainty surrounding specific situations or even dilemmas on how we should behave inside or outside of the United States. Premiere leadership understands that ethical questions and answers are not always clear-cut. Our “Trusted Supplier Code of Conduct” coupled with our “Core Values & Global Code of Ethics” (the “Codes”) should serve as a preliminary guide to aid in navigating challenging situations.

These Codes are intended to support Premiere’s Core Values and to help our Team Members and our partners live these Values while working around the world. Similarly, we want to reiterate the high standards that we hold for ourselves and our partners and the ethical conduct we expect at Premiere. Anyone doing business with Premiere, regardless of position or affiliation, is bound by these Codes and is expected to follow them.

Prior to conducting business with or on behalf of Premiere, you are expected to read and understand the Codes. Premiere holds its Team Members and partners individually responsible for following these guidelines and any corresponding policies and procedures that go along with these documents. Should you have questions regarding the Codes or any other policy or procedure, contact information has been provided within the body of the documents so that no question goes unanswered.

As we move toward a more globalized Premiere, we must continue to hold ourselves and our partners responsible for behaving ethically and acting within the local and international laws of the countries in which we operate. Individual and joint accountability is imperative for a successful and profitable future for all of us.

Premiere's Trusted Supplier Code of Conduct: An Introduction

Our relationships with our suppliers, customers, contractors, partners, agents and other third-parties are fundamental in conducting business in a successful and ethically responsible manner. Coupled with our Core Values & Global Code of Ethics, the Trusted Supplier Code of Conduct encourages those who work with us to adhere to fair business practices and enjoy Premiere's successes that come from conducting ourselves in a lawful manner.

WHO IS A TRUSTED SUPPLIER?

In this Code, "Trusted Supplier" is defined as any individual, organization, company or entity that provides, or wants to provide, goods or services to Premiere or its Team Members. The term also refers to any employee, third-party agent, temporary worker, sales representative or contractor that works on behalf of an individual, organization, company or entity as described above.

Premiere is committed to living our Core Values and we have adopted a Global Code of Ethics & Conduct for our Team Members, Officers and Directors that provides guiding principles for who we are as a company and how we perform for our customers.

Based on the standards set for us in our Global Code of Ethics & Conduct, our Trusted Supplier Code of Conduct outlines our expectations that we have for ethical conduct and transparent dealing with our third-party partners.

CODE COMPLIANCE

All Trusted Suppliers and partners that work with Premiere are expected to read, understand and apply the guidelines set forth in this Code. Premiere also expects that all Trusted Suppliers working with Premiere Team Members are aware of how detrimental even the appearance of improper conduct is to good business.

Premiere Trusted Suppliers are expected to follow the same protocols as Team Members and are not allowed to circumvent this Code under any circumstances. All violations, or potential violations, are to be reported to Director of Human Resources by calling +001 (713) 524-2240. (See Section 5: Reporting an Issue for more information).

Any Trusted Supplier found to be in violation of this Code will no longer be able to work with Premiere and will be removed from our approved Trusted Supplier list.

We hold ourselves and our partners accountable and we believe that by encouraging a joint responsibility to act ethically, we will all be stronger and more transparent global business citizens and partners.

Taking Joint Responsibility for Our Actions

Premiere expects that its Team Members and partners conduct themselves in a respectful manner toward one another and to those with whom we do business. Premiere is committed to understanding and celebrating the diversity in backgrounds, talents and skills within and outside of our organization and we believe that mutual respect is imperative to our success. Trusted Suppliers are tasked with behaving in an inclusive and fair manner at all times.

QUALITY, HEALTH AND PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT (QHS&E)

From its inception, Premiere has always maintained strong Quality, Health, Safety, and Environment (QHSE) practices. Not only does Premiere protect the physical health of its Team Members partners and Trusted Suppliers, but we are committed to a mentality of safety first. Similarly, as we expand our global footprint, Team Members and our Trusted Suppliers are expected to recognize and respect the local communities in which we work.

Trusted Suppliers are expected to follow Premiere's proactive stance on creating a safe, healthy and environmentally sound atmosphere for all people. Just like Premiere Team Members, our partners are responsible for following all local, federal and international laws governing environmental, safety and health concerns. If you are approached or asked to violate any laws around these subjects, you are required to immediately report such instances to the Director of Compliance by calling +001 (713) 524-2240.

Just like Premiere Team Members, if a Trusted Supplier observes a hazardous situation, you are required to stop the job and ensure the safety of everyone.

Trusted Suppliers are responsible for taking adequate precautions and should plan ahead regarding all QHSE issues. If a problem arises, you are held accountable for adequate and timely reporting. Trusted Suppliers must promptly alert the Premiere Director of Compliance and take immediate action in response to any near miss, injury, accident, hazardous condition or any potential environmental threat.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND PROPRIETARY INFORMATION

To keep confidential information confidential, Trusted Suppliers are responsible for protecting Premiere's trade secrets and proprietary information just as if they were employed by Premiere. You are prohibited from using, sharing, copying, or removing Premiere proprietary information or personal data from Premiere premises without prior written approval from the Director of Sales and Legal or Executive Management.

All proprietary and personal information must be returned to Premiere upon the completion of a project or the end of a relationship with Premiere, whichever occurs first.

PROTECTING PREMIERE PROPERTY

Trusted Suppliers are tasked with protecting Premiere tangible and intangible assets. Asset usage should be limited to Premiere business purposes only. Physical property such as automobiles, lay down trucks, district buildings, shop parts, tools, etc. should be handled with the utmost care to prevent loss, damage or theft. You, just like Team Members, are responsible for reporting to the Director of Compliance any defect in or missing tangible property as well as the spread of any confidential information.

INSIDER TRADING

If a Trusted Supplier discovers or hears of any non-public information about any company, you are expected to keep this information to yourself and are forbidden to buy or sell any of that company's securities or options, if publically available. You are instructed to avoid even the appearance of improperly using insider information for any type of benefit or gain.

Insider information can include knowledge about large contracts, impending or settled litigation, insurance claims, merger and acquisition decisions, business activities and financial budgets, among other bits of information.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Trusted Suppliers must avoid conflicts of interest, in appearance or fact, when conducting business with or on behalf of Premiere and its partners, subsidiaries and affiliates. Conflicts of interest can arise when a Trusted Supplier has personal, familial, monetary, political or other interests that interfere with Premiere's interests. For instance:

- A Trusted Supplier has familial ties with a Premiere Team Member in an Executive Position.
- A Trusted Supplier gains information from their relationship with Premiere and benefits from that information (e.g. financial investment or business opportunity); and
- A Trusted Supplier uses Premiere property for individual benefit or gain.

Trusted Suppliers are expected to put Premiere and its interests at the forefront of their business activities when engaged with Premiere. Trusted Suppliers and their family members are prohibited from accepting any improper personal benefits as a result of your relationship with Premiere.
